

cosine is a knowledge based company that develops technologies and systems based on applied physics for its customers. These find use in scientific, industrial, medical, energy, security, semiconductor and space applications. The latter made cosine an important technology developer for the European Space Agency.